

Why not turn a pile of newspapers (or any other paper) into an indoor flag pole?

Start by rolling individual sheets of paper into thin tubes. Hold the tubes together with some gluestick or tape. I would suggest making a pile of about ten of these.

Using these tubes start to make your tower that will become a flag pole. You can use tape to hold it together.

Quite how you put it together is up to you. But remember that triangular shapes tend to be quite strong.

Don't try and make it super tall if all it is going to do is fall over. Strong and secure is better than tall and wobbly.

Why not have a go at this tower here? Don't forget to put a flag at the top!
